

Notes of licorice, fresh blackcurrant and red roses mingle with aromas of Havana cigars and hints of pink peppercorn...
Wonderfully expressive and complex, don't you think?

Delicious and delicate on the palate, revealing fresh blackcurrant notes, accompanied by more mineral overtones of gunflint and wet stones after the rain. Have you noticed how it starts out clear-cut, becoming full-bodied before leading into a finish underpinned by creamy and silky tannins?

Despite the impression of a gloomy spring and summer, with several cold and rainy spells, particularly between June and August, 2023 was one of the driest years in modern history. The harvest took place from 7 to 28 September 2023. Excellent weather conditions during the harvest meant pickers could wait until the ideal time to harvest the grapes, according to the technological and phenolic ripeness achieved in each plot.
